12 Nations Open Meet To Hike Defense

NATO Council In Ottawa; Red Aggression To Get Warning

OTTAWA, Sept. 15—The 12-nation North Atlantic council opens a meeting to plan strengthened Western defenses against Communist aggression today on a hopeful note despite a prospective fight on admitting Greece and Turkey to membership.

The opposition to Greece and Turkey stems mainly from the Scandinavian nations which are reluctant to take on responsibilities on the opposite fringe of the European continent and fear a smaller "slice" of the arms "pie" of the Western nations.

A second major item will be the tricky question of financing the rearmament efforts of the Atlantic pact members, most of whom must take into account the weakness of their economic structures.

The two problems, together with plans to integrate West German troops into the defense plans of the organization, make up the heart of the work set out for the foreign ministers of the pact nations.

THE COUNCIL president, Foreign Minister Paul Van Zeeland of Belgium, will gavel the session to order in the transportation section of the Canadian Parliament building.

But he set the theme of the conference at a news conference last night when he said the chances for peace already have been improved by the past actions of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. He added the hope that peace will be achieved in the end.

As he opens the meeting, Van Zeeland will make a short introductory address. The speech will be followed by Canadian welcoming ceremonies which will take up the rest of the opening day of the six-day program.

Beginning Monday, when the 12 ministers sit down to basic discussions, all doors will be closed.

Participating in the council discussions are the Western Big Three foreign ministers—Herbert Morrison of Britain, Robert Schuman of France, and Dean Acheson of the United States.

They come straight from Washington where they offered to restore national sovereignty to Western Germany in return for German troops to be incorporated into the NATO defense system.

In addition to the Big Three, the nations seated at the conference table are Belgium, Canada, Denmark, Iceland, Italy, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Norway and Portugal.

THEY HAVE before them an agenda loaded with questions of far-reaching importance, all involved with the council's task of preserving peace through collective defense.

The nations will try to find ways of pooling and binding together their armed might and must face up to the problem of financing their rearmament programs without wrecking their economic structures.

The over-all objective is to build up a fool-proof common front which will demonstrate to the Communists that war would be a fatal mistake on the part of the aggressors.

Quads Are Born In Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Sept. 15—Quadruplets, born to a 31-year-old Baltimore widow yesterday, were reported in fairly good condition in city hospital today.

The mother of the two boys and two girls is Mrs. Susie Avance. The father died two months ago.

Dr. Emerson Sackler, resident obstetrician at the hospital, said the quads were delivered within six minutes. The babies were estimated to weigh about three pounds each.

BACK in Los Angeles from an "impossible" kayak trip 4,000 miles down the Nile, explorer John Goddard, 26, stands holding one of the kayaks used on the nine-month trip which was planned with two French companions in a German prison camp during World War II. The three overcame pirate raids, disease, animals and rapids in the adventure dubbed "impossible" by other adventurers.

13 Desperadoes Sought After Prison Break

MONTGOMERY, Sept. 15—Twenty heavily-armed convicts, a number of them serving long terms for murder, kidnapping and robbery, slugged their way out of Alabama's Draper State Prison last night and seven of the fugitives were captured early today.

Among the 13 desperadoes still at large are Leo Self, 40, who was in on five previous escapes, and Frank Green, 42-year-old murderer serving a life term. Self was serving 40 years for robbery.

Not a shot was fired in the daring break although the escaping convicts appropriated all the weapons and ammunition in the gun room of the prison, located some 15 miles north of Montgomery.

Officials named Green as the ringleader of the escape. They said he was granted permission to place some papers on Warden Burr R. Reeves' desk and then slugged a guard who opened the inner front gate for him.

The prisoners made a wild dash for freedom through the opened gate.

182 Years 'Lost' In Local Court

Drunk Driver Penalty Tabulation Released

A total of 182 years in driving permit suspensions has been meted out to 105 drunken drivers arrested in Pickaway County since Oct. 9, 1950.

In addition two men were deprived of driving rights for life.

The practice of suspending driving permits in drunken driving cases was started last October when Prosecutor Guy Cline persuaded mayors and magistrates throughout the county to send such cases to common pleas court.

Under Ohio law driving permits can be suspended only in courts of record.

Since the war on drunken drivers started offenders have paid a total of $2,440 in fines. In the majority of cases fines imposed in common pleas court have been moderate.

MOST EMPHASIS has been placed on removing driving rights for periods ranging from six months to lifetime.

In 57 cases the driving permits were suspended for one year, in five cases for 10 years, in two cases for 15 years.

The two cases in which driving rights were lifted for life were Franklin Hamilton last week and Dewey Cryder on Oct. 9, 1950.

The majority of the cases were heard by Judge William D. Radcliff.

Hollywood Brawl Leaves Franchot Tone Battered

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 15—Blonde film siren Barbara Payton planned a bedside visit today with battered actor Franchot Tone who she said was beaten "unmercifully" by her prospective bridegroom, Tom Neal, in a love triangle brawl.

Miss Payton said she hoped to get permission to visit Tone in California Lutheran hospital, where he was last reported in semi-conscious condition from the beating he received at Neal's hands.

The shapely actress was to have been married in San Francisco today to Neal, also a Hollywood actor and former Golden Gloves boxing champion, who complained that several days ago he was "left in the lurch before I reached the church."

Neal today offered a blood transfusion to his rival, whose physician said Tone suffered a shattered nose, a fractured left cheek bone and upper right jaw and a brain concussion.

As police prepared to investigate the brawl, Miss Payton and Neal gave sharply different versions of the encounter outside her Hollywood home in the pre-dawn hours yesterday.

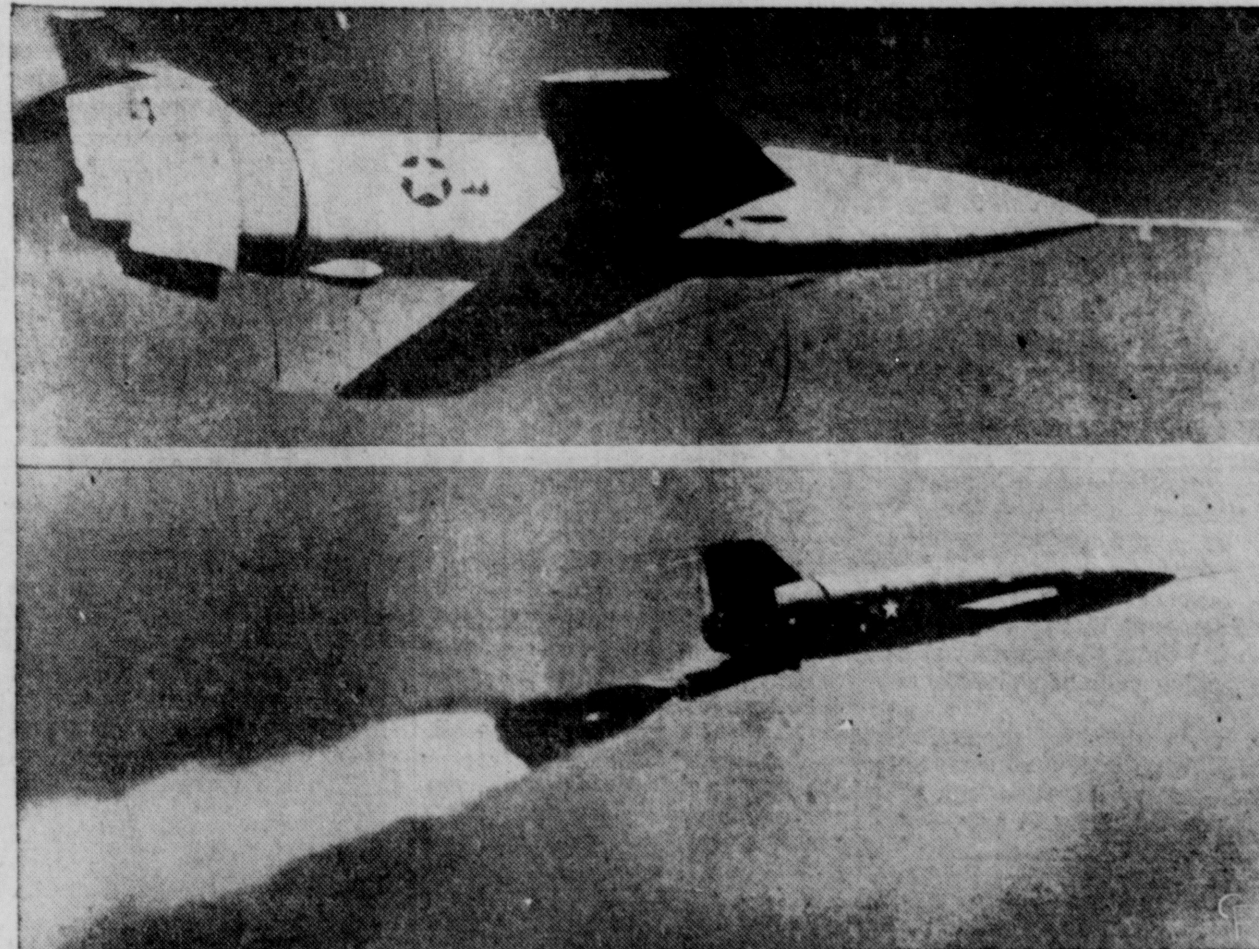

On the preliminaries they agreed, Miss Payton had been out till shortly after 1 a. m. with handsome, urbane, 46-year-old Tone, weight 155 1-2.

TWENTY-SIX-year-old Neal, 180, with whom Miss Payton fell in love at first sight two months ago, said the older man took a swing at him after the curfew.

Home Appliances To Be Curtailed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15—The government warned today that production of washing machines, ironers and driers will be drastically reduced in 1952 due to the shortage of critical metals needed for the defense program.

National Production Authority officials declared at a meeting of the home laundry equipment advisory committee that even less steel, copper and aluminum will be available for these articles in 1952 than for the last three months of this year.

A GIANT STRIDE in development of fantastic weapons of the Atomic Era—creation of a "pilotless bomber squadron"—is announced in Washington by the U. S. Airforce. The squadron will go into action at the Cocoa, Fla., missile test center Oct. 1. One of the jet-powered, pilotless Matadors (B-61), robot light bombers with swept-back wings, is shown in flight (top) and (lower) jettisoning what is believed to be an auxiliary rocket used as a booster on takeoffs.

Courthouse Chimes Get Fixup And Adjustment

Been hearing bells lately?

If you have, it's because the Foresman chimes in the tower of Pickaway Courthouse have been undergoing repairs.

The chimes, consisting of 11 bells of varying sizes, were installed in 1926, a gift to the public by the late William Foresman, a local miller and banker.

A trust fund was set up under the Foresman will for the maintenance and repair of the chimes.

Repair work this week was performed by Bill Roberts of the Verdin Bell Co., Cincinnati. Roberts explained that the volume of the bells had been under strength, and that the tone had been a "little tinny."

BOTH THESE defects were corrected by adjusting the linkage, the chains that operate the bell clappers.

Rust and dust also was removed from the mechanism, and a coat of paint was given to the bell supports. No paint was applied to the bells themselves.

"The bells are made of bronze," Roberts explained, "and they never rust."

Instead the bells over the years acquire a patina, a greenish deposit that forms on bronze surfaces.

It has artistic value in that it is considered to enhance the appearance of objects made of bronze.

"These are Meneely chimes," said Roberts. "And Meneely chimes are regarded as the best made in this country. Because of the war they are not being made at present."

ROBERTS SAID the weight of the 11 bells totals 8,655 pounds. "And at the present market price of $2.10 a pound, these chimes are worth $18,175.50. And that's not counting the rest of the equipment."

Roberts said he had also checked the Trinity Lutheran church chimes. He started work on the courthouse chimes Wednesday, finished Friday.

Pay Raise Bill Being Pushed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15—Administration leaders promised today to rush to final passage pay raise bills for a half million postal workers and one million civil service employees.

Goal of House and Senate leaders is to complete action on both measures before the October recess. The Senate yesterday voted unanimously to provide pay hikes ranging from $400 to $800 for postal workers,

Cease-Fire Talks Hanging In Balance

TOKYO, Sept. 15—A half-million armor-supported Red troops were poised along the Korean front today for a possible "full moon" offensive which might erupt tonight and thus dash waning hopes of a cease-fire.

However, despite the huge Communist buildup there was doubt among Allied military officials that the enemy would unleash an all-out drive at this time.

United Nations forces were nevertheless on the alert to meet any major challenge as fierce, but localized fighting raged at various points, particularly in the mountainous eastern sectors.

On the west front—where lies Kaesong, site of the long-dormant armistice conference—an estimated 250,000 Red troops were massed. These were backed by three mechanized divisions—two Chinese and one North Korean.

ALLIED frontline officers said enemy forces were ready to strike "at any time" against UN defenses athwart the main invasion avenues leading down to the South Korean capital of Seoul.

Saturday night's full moon was eagerly awaited by UN officers and soldiers who remembered that every big Red offensive in the Korean war thus far has begun by the light of the moon's fullness.

Meanwhile, a Communist broadcast charged that UN troops have violated the neutrality of Kaesong four times since Wednesday.

Radio Peiping quoted a Red dispatch from Kaesong as telling of the alleged new infringements, on top of 11 previous "violations" attributed by the Communist command to Allied land and air forces.

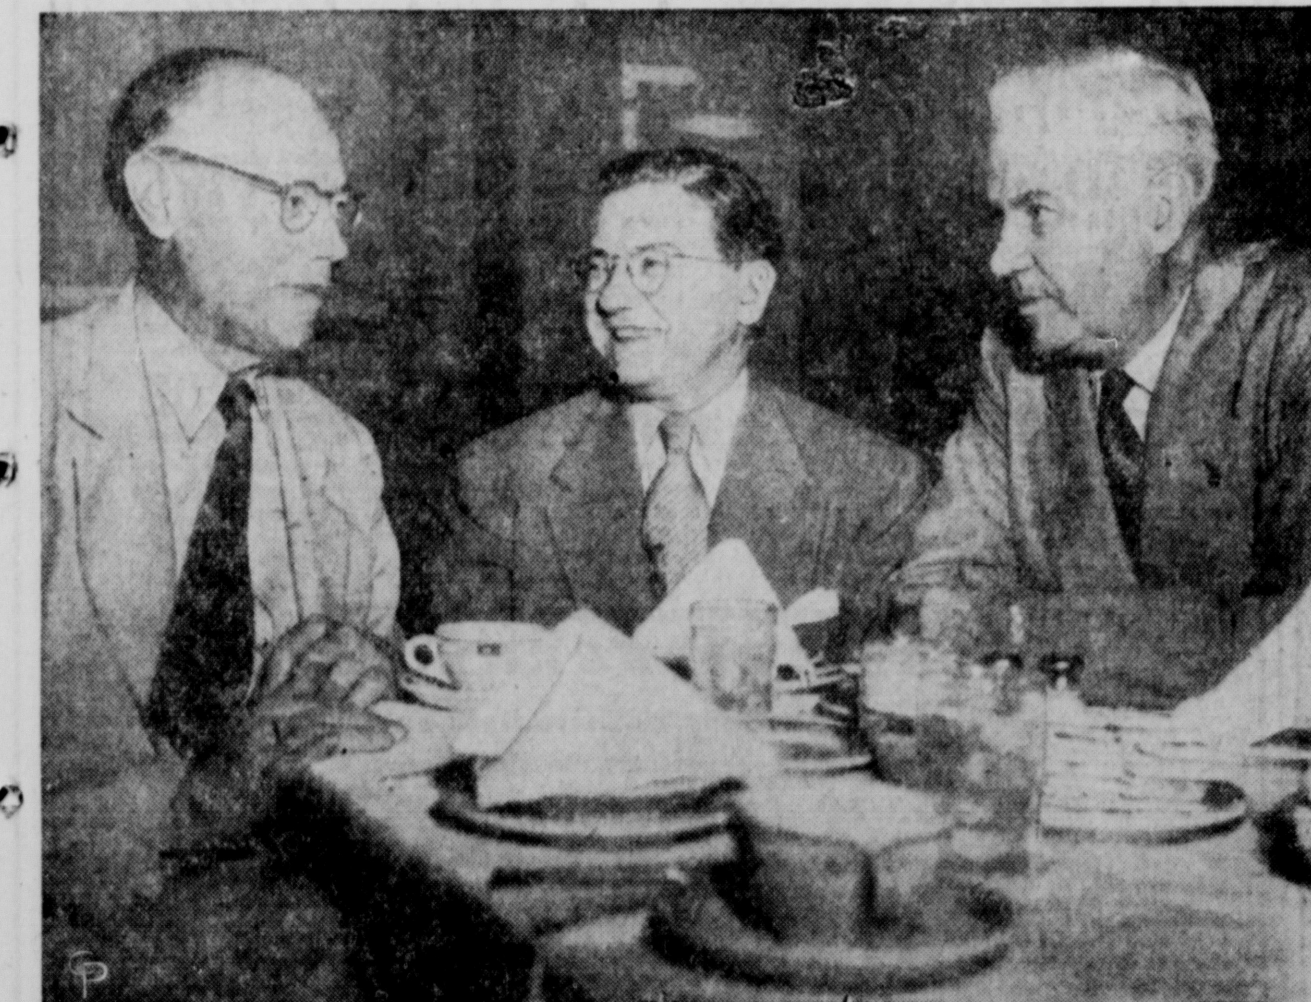

The dispatch, as broadcast from the Red Chinese capital, said UN troops "invaded" the Kaesong neutral circle three times and fired into the zone once.

It said one girl was killed during the shooting in which machinegun bullets were alleged to have been sprayed over part of the neutral area for 20 minutes.

FORESHADOWING a possible new official protest from the North Korean-Chinese command, the broadcast came at the close of the 24th day since the Communists broke off the truce negotiations.

There was still no indication as to when Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway would reply to last

U.S. Sports Panel Asked

Solons Say Gamblers Control Athletic

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15—A high-ranking congressman predicted today that a federal commission will be established to supervise all sports as a follow-up to current plans for a sweeping new investigation of racing, boxing and other events.

Rep. Cox, (D) Ga., member of the powerful House Rules Committee, said he believes Congress will favor a national sports commission.

Cox made the statement in connection with charges leveled by two New York congressmen that gambling syndicates appear to hold control over race tracks and even influence state legislatures.

Reps. Clemente and Anfuso, Democrats, asked rules committee approval of the probe, which would concentrate on racing and boxing but probably would include other sports. Clemente, author of the resolution, was revising it to include in the study the granting of television rights for major events.

Anfuso declared that some $8 billion a year is bet on horses at the nation's tracks and additional billions on the outside.

TO SUPPORT his charge of gambler control, Anfuso made three specific accusations:

1. That a New England track rents five telephones to bookies who use them to place hedging bets to protect earlier wagers.

2. Jockeys frequently establish "pools," and have an understanding "as to who is to win" individual races.

3. The 37 state racing commissions "do absolutely nothing to protect the public."

Anfuso charged that odds against the better are 99 to 1. Rules Committee Chairman Sabath, (D) Ill., said he understood harness racing "is just as crooked as the rest." Anfuso agreed.

On boxing, Clemente charged that a recent Washington fight between Elkins Brothers and Arturo Godoy which he watched appeared pre-arranged to give the decision to Godoy.

The congressman said Brothers "was far superior," but lost. Rep. Delaney (D) N. Y., added that he timed one round of the bout, and that it lasted only two minutes, ten seconds, instead of the regulation three minutes.

Delaney declared: "It was apparent they were afraid he (Godoy) couldn't last."

Clemente also insisted that title holders frequently refuse to meet the strongest challengers.

Professional wrestling was referred to by the congressman as a "vaudeville show."

United Church Men Due For Inaugural Meeting

CINCINNATI, Sept. 15—The first national convention convened under the sponsorship of a newly formed laymen's organization is expected to attract 3,000 Christian laymen to a two-day session opening here Oct. 6.

The sponsoring body is United Church Men, the first interdenominational laymen's body officially constituted by major American denominations. It is an integral part of the National Council of Churches, established last year by 29 denominations with a combined membership of more than 31 million.

Church leaders have characterized the new body, which will be officially inaugurated at the Cincinnati convention, as potentially the most important outgrowth of the national council's effort to promote cooperative church work.

The formation of the new church agency, said E. Urner Goodman, its director, "will bring to the American scene a new movement designed to rally church men everywhere to their present day responsibilities in a troubled world."

He predicted the new organization would set in motion "a sweeping crusade through which American churches can restore the early glory of the Christian church, where every man fulfilled his part in bringing in the Kingdom of Christ."

Among several prominent laymen slated to address the convention, will be the Walter H. Judd, congressman from Minnesota, and former missionary to China.

The day prior to the inauguration, a board of managers will be formed to guide the new agency. It will be composed of all lay delegates to the general assembly of the national council, representatives of men's work in the denominations, state and local councils of churches, as well as representatives from the units in the national council.

The board of managers will hear extensive reports on long range plans for the men's church group, including types of community service, cultivation of denominational leaderships, and methods of interpretation and information on laymen's activities.

Goodman said the organization would function in the following ways:

(1) Through state and local councils of United Church Men, the national group will originate significant and worthwhile projects to enlist the cooperation of all denominational groups.

(2) Through the national council's 29 constituting denominations, the organization will endeavor to enhance the role of laymen in the denominations and raise the standards of men's work through a sharing of successful experiences and projects.

Goodman reported that arrangements for impressive inauguration ceremonies are being made. The observances will be held at the Taft auditorium.

Goodman, former national program director for the Boy Scouts, indicated that the new agency was being formed in response to demands for a mobilization of laymen to perform constructive tasks in their local churches and as a means to stimulate them to work together in their communities. He added that the national council has specifically urged laymen to contribute their talents to a strengthening of the National Council's various units and programs.

Goodman will officially take over his duties as director of the new organization today with headquarters at 297 Fourth Avenue, New York City.

Plans for the convention have been under way since Jan. 1. Lem T. Jones, former president of United Presbyterian Men, and a Kansas City businessman, has been chairman of the executive committee drawing up the plans. He will preside at the Cincinnati meeting.

'Look For Hope' Is Theme For Trinity Church

The junior choir, directed by Mrs. G. L. Troutman, is to sing an anthem entitled "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say."

Ohio Church Women's Background Outlined

COLUMBUS, Sept. 15—"This be manifested in cooperative Protestantism."

"In spite of adverse opinions Dr. B. F. Lamb, executive secretary of the council, decided to start a women's department."

"This was pioneering—there was nothing like it in America. No other state council had yet seen the need for or the value of harnessing the tremendous power of church women. When the Ohio Council of Churches fathered the women's department, it not only achieved a first in religious work, it started a movement which, in a few years has become a powerful instrument, sensitive to the needs of a troubled world."

"The stream has not always flowed deep and straight and smooth but it flowed onward, steadily. The Church Women of Ohio have more than justified the vision and faith of the founder of the Women's department of the Ohio Council of Churches."

Opening Chapter One of the history, Rev. Mr. Fish writes: "Great movements always have small beginnings, always are born of faith and vision and always ride forward on wings of hope. This is the story of a movement springing from a small seed, growing to great stature in a brief span of time."

First of all, Rev. Mr. Fish praises the Ohio Council of Churches, quoting a speaker who described it as "the highest expression of the spirit of Protestant cooperation yet developed in the world."

"But in the year 1924," he adds, "something was lacking. Women still played a minor role in the interdenominational set up. This was largely due to the patterns and customs of Church denominations. Some method had to be devised to mobilize church women and bring them into the interdenominational movement so their power could be manifested in cooperative Protestantism."

For seven years 1932-39 the Ohio Christian News was not published.

Mrs. Mabel Fish, is executive director of the council. The volume will be published for the membership attending the annual conference.

Difficulties of writing the history are related in Rev. Mr. Fish's foreword. He says: "Writing a detailed history demands access to reasonably well-preserved records. In this case records of the early years were not kept, or were so brief and disconnected as to be of little value. For some periods the only sources of information were the memories of people closely associated with the movement and the Ohio Christian News."

"The historian's task was complicated by the Depression. For seven years 1932-39 the Ohio Christian News was not published."

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

John said, "Master, we saw one casting out devils in Thy name; and we forbade him, because he followed not us;" but Jesus rebuked him, saying: "Forbid him not; for he that is not against us is for us."

Some prophets came to Antioch from Jerusalem, and one, Agabus, prophesied that there would be a great famine throughout all the world, so the brethren at Antioch sent relief to the brethren at Jerusalem by Paul and Barnabas.

Certain men came to Antioch saying that Gentiles must be circumcised, after the manner of Moses, or they could not be saved. Paul and Barnabas disagreed, and were sent to Jerusalem to discuss the matter with the elders.

In Jerusalem, Paul and Barnabas told the elders what miracles God had wrought among the Gentiles, and it was decided that they could be saved without following the Jewish custom.

Ohio Church Women's Background Outlined

COLUMBUS, Sept. 15—"This was pioneering—there was nothing like it in America."

These words serve to dramatize the origin of the Ohio Council of Church Women, whose 25th anniversary conference will be held here Oct. 1 to 3. They are from a commemorative volume prepared for the council by the Rev. Fenton O. Fish, whose wife, Mrs. Mabel Fish, is executive director of the council. The volume will be published for the membership attending the annual conference.

Difficulties of writing the history are related in Rev. Mr. Fish's foreword. He says: "Writing a detailed history demands access to reasonably well-preserved records. In this case records of the early years were not kept, or were so brief and disconnected as to be of little value. For some periods the only sources of information were the memories of people closely associated with the movement and the Ohio Christian News."

"The historian's task was complicated by the Depression. For seven years 1932-39 the Ohio Christian News was not published."

Opening Chapter One of the history, Rev. Mr. Fish writes: "Great movements always have small beginnings, always are born of faith and vision and always ride forward on wings of hope. This is the story of a movement springing from a small seed, growing to great stature in a brief span of time."

First of all, Rev. Mr. Fish praises the Ohio Council of Churches, quoting a speaker who described it as "the highest expression of the spirit of Protestant cooperation yet developed in the world."

FLOATING DREAM EYED

Everything In Readiness For 'Little Brown Jug'

DELAWARE, Sept. 15 — The richest racing race of all time, the 1951 Little Brown Jug for three-year-olds, will be up for decision at the Delaware County Fair Grand Circuit Thursday afternoon.

A field of from 14 to 18 sophomore season sideliners is expected to make the final payment of $500, each, the day before the big race in order to remain eligible to shoot for the purse which is expected to exceed $65,000.

A crowd of from 25,000 to 30,000 will be on hand to see the greatest collection of three-year-old pacers of all time battle it out for the lion's share of the purse and the trophies that symbolize triumph in the Jug Classic.

The Roaring Grand is slated for a four-day stint at Delaware, starting Tuesday and continuing through Friday.

In all, over $100,000 in purses will be distributed among the nation's top Standardbreds.

FASTEST RECORD held by a Jug candidate is the 1:59 4-5 that Car Heel, owned by the W. N. Reynolds estate of Winston-Salem, N.C., posted this season at Springfield, Ill. Second fastest is H. R. Warren and Son's, East Moline, Ill., free-legged star, H. D. Hanover who has covered the mile twice this season in 2:00 3-5.

The Ohio pacer queen, Floating Dream, owned by trainer-driver McKinley Kirk of Washington C.H., has a mark of 2:00 4-5, taken as a two-year-old in setting a world's record for age, gait and sex. She represents chief hope for the Buckeye State's initial victory in the all-important clash.

Her best time this year is 2:01, posted at Indianapolis on Sept. 10, in downing many of the Jug candidates she'll have to face Thursday, including Tar Heel and H. D. Hanover.

The Dream's best effort on a half-mile track this season is 2:02 2-5. This is important as the Jug is to be decided over the local half-mile track. Should she win, it would be the first time a filly has triumphed in the event.

Fastest time turned in this year by a Jug candidate on a two-lap oval is the 2:02 of Solicitor, also owned by the W. N. Reynolds estate. An important factor enters into this youngster, however. He hasn't faced the starter since Aug. 9 at Goshen, N.Y.

HE HAS BEEN slightly lame so driver Del Miller has been training him carefully, hoping to have him ready for the all-important Jug struggle.

Direct Rhythm, owned by Reynolds' nephew, W. G. Reynolds of Louisville, Ky., is next to Floating Dream in the record department. He secured a mark of 2:01 1-5 in a time trial a few weeks ago and has a half-mile track triumph in 2:02 1-5 to his credit.

The Jug record is the 2:02 3-5 turned in by Dudley Hanover in whipping the 1950 field. In addition to Solicitor, Direct Rhythm and Floating Dream, all of whom have beaten that time on a two-lap course this year, the mark has been twice equalled by Chuck Volo, owned by S. A. and Wendell Wathen of Ft. Fairfield, Me.

Other candidates that must be highly regarded for the annual classic include:

Casanova 2:03 2-5, owned by Craig's Cimarron Ranch, Le-moore, Calif.; Stanton Hal 2:03 3-5, owned by H. C. Wilson estate, Murfreesboro, Tenn.; Garrison Hanover 2:04, owned by Lawrence B. Storybook Finale Gives Browns Win Over Rams

CLEVELAND, Sept. 15 — If Hollywood script writers ever run short of material they can watch the Los Angeles Rams play the Cleveland Browns in a National Football League game and pick up gobs of new material.

The Browns came through in storybook fashion again last night in Cleveland to edge the Rams, 7-6, with only 38 seconds left to play in the exhibition, watched by 38,851 fans.

The contest proved a worthy encore to the NFL championship tilt between the same teams last Christmas Eve, which the Browns took, 30-28, with only 20 seconds left to play.

And again as usual, "Automatic" Otto Graham tossed the touchdown pass which tied the score, a five-yard flip to Left End Horace Gillom in the end zone.

Lou Groza, whose toe provided the winning margin in the championship game, again helped his squad pull one out of the fire by calmly kicking the extra point that spelled the difference.

The Rams scored their six

JUST BETWEEN PEACE, WAR

Morrison Defends British Trade With Communists

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15—British Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison defended his country's trade with the Soviet Union and its satellites today as essential to the maintenance of his country and its defense effort.

Morrison, in his second speech delivered in the United States, also defended Britain's recognition of the Communist Chinese regime, adding that, "our recognition does not imply any approval." He added:

"How could it, when our boys are fighting alongside yours in Korea."

The address was made before the National Press Club. His first address was made toward the close of the Japanese peace conference in San Francisco and dealt only with that meeting.

Morrison said that there is no use trying to cover up the fact that there is a difference of policy between the two countries on the matter of China. But, he said:

"IT GRIEVES me to think that any American should think that his British counterpart should have any more illusions about the Russians than he has himself.

"We realize, as well as you do, that we are up against a ruthless group of men determined to set nation against nation, race against race, and peoples against their governments.

"We realize that free peoples must be strong. We must be strong to discourage the aggressor and prevent war. Surely our great rearmament effort—for it is a great effort—is evidence of that."

Noting that many Americans regard Britain's trade with the East as amounting to virtual trading with the enemy, Morrison replied that the British not only like trade for its own sake but with its thick population and dependence on overseas trade for existence it is a matter of life to trade overseas.

Therefore, he added, careful consideration must be given any thought of reducing overseas trade, "otherwise we may cut off our nose to spite our face."

Of Eastern European trade, he said, Britain would be weaker because goods from Eastern Europe, if cut off, would damage Britain's economy for a re-

August Births Far Exceed Total Of Deaths Here

Births far exceeded deaths in Pickaway County during August. A total of 60 births were recorded in both Circleville and Pickaway County last month while only 12 deaths were reported.

Of the deaths, nine were recorded in Circleville and only three, one of which happened in Orient State School, were recorded in the county.

A total of 53 new citizens were born in Circleville during August, 32 boys and 21 girls, while only seven youngsters, four boys and three girls, were born in the county outside the city.

Leading cause of death in Circleville during the period was heart disease, which accounted for five of the nine deaths, while cancer was second with three and one death resulted from an accident.

Most deaths during August occurred in the 81-90-year-old age range, which had a total of four. Complete age range of deaths for the month is: 41-50-years-old, one; 61-70-years-old, three; 71-80 years old, two; 81-90 years-old, four; and 91-100 years old, two.

KASHMIR ISSUE BREWING

Nehru's Power In India Demonstrated By Election

BOMBAY, Sept. 15—The manifold problems of India has taken a commanding place in world interest in the wake of San Francisco's historic conference and the signing of a peace treaty for Japan.

While a possible move by Soviet Russia to offset the Japanese agreement which the Kremlin so long opposed held the focus of attention, the affairs of India assumed new importance with the election of Prime Minister Nehru to presidency of the All-India National Congress Party.

Nehru succeeds bearded Purshottamdas Tandon, the enigmatic former leader of the party who resigned in the course of bitter disputes with the prime minister over policies in general.

His election presumably shows that the most powerful political group in India backs Nehru in his opposition to the Japanese treaty as drafted by John Foster Dulles and in his abstention from the conference.

AND AT THE same time, it firmly establishes Nehru as undisputed leader of India and assures him of popular support in whatever measures he may deem necessary in the perilous split with Pakistan over the princely state of Kashmir.

This dispute, which for months has seen Hindu and Pakistani troops ranged against each other in an uneasy truce, still has the makings of a major world catastrophe.

It has its curious aspects, which were emphasized both by the San Francisco conference and by Nehru's election to a post-that he has held on numerous occasions in recent years.

With regard to the situation in Kashmir, both India and Pakistan have adopted very strong—even stubborn—attitudes.

Nehru and Pakistani Prime Minister Liaquat Ali Khan have been unable to get together in any kind of a settlement and both have talked freely about the possibility of war. Each has accused the other of provocation and undying hostility.

Yet in the closing stages of the San Francisco conference, in voicing Pakistan's approval of the "peace of reconciliation" with Japan, Pakistani Delegate Sir M. Zafrullah Khan quoted from the Koran in a memorable passage which made a tremendous impression.

"NOW," HE SAID, "we of Asia, Africa, Europe and America are met together to make peace with Japan. And peace is best. It is the balm that heals; it is the silken cord that seeks to join together those whom war had put asunder. It blesses and is blessed."

Even though he is a Hindu, the learned Nehru could cite the Koran with equal ease. And as the greatest champion and associate of the late Mohandas K. Gandhi, he likewise most admires the portions that deal with peace.

But no devotion to religion or the betterment of mankind has yet enabled Nehru and Ali Khan to settle the vexatious and dynamic-laden problem of Kashmir.

TEETH DIGGING GRAVE? Eating Too Much Claimed Good Way To Short Life

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 15 — If you are one of the 25 million overweight Americans you might be "digging your grave with your teeth."

An American and a Swedish scientist said today that the less you eat the healthier you will probably be—even to the extent of fasting.

Dr. Anton J. Carlson, 77-year-old "grand old man of physiology" at the University of Chicago, says that there is evidence of improved mental and physical activities after fasting.

Dr. Anton Henschen of Stockholm, Sweden, found that a scanty diet cuts down hardening of the arteries and inflammation of heart muscles. Both are attending the International Gerontological Congress which is studying problems of the aged in St. Louis.

DR. CARLSON pointed out that the life span of animals could be prolonged by intermittent fasting. Experimenting with rats, Dr. Carlson found out that "overnutrition," or eating too much, not only seems to make rats older quicker, but it also seems to make them less capable of reproducing.

He said that while it is not certain that the same applies to humans, overweight perhaps produces a poison for man's living cells.

Dr. Henschen said that when fat, meat and eggs were very scarce in Finland and Sweden during World War II, there were not as much carbohydrates (sugar and starches) as people wanted, but there was enough vitamins. He added:

"People grew thin, they complained about the restrictions, but the common state of health has never been as good in Sweden as during that time. The mortality decreased to a minimum."

"But after the war when people could again obtain all the food they wanted to eat, the death rate increased rapidly and was soon higher than even before the war."

The Mohammedan Koran is the most recent of the world's chief sacred books, having been written in the Seventh Century A. D.

August Births Far Exceed Total Of Deaths Here

Births far exceeded deaths in Pickaway County during August. A total of 60 births were recorded in both Circleville and Pickaway County last month while only 12 deaths were reported.

Of the deaths, nine were recorded in Circleville and only three, one of which happened in Orient State School, were recorded in the county.

A total of 53 new citizens were born in Circleville during August, 32 boys and 21 girls, while only seven youngsters, four boys and three girls, were born in the county outside the city.

Leading cause of death in Circleville during the period was heart disease, which accounted for five of the nine deaths, while cancer was second with three and one death resulted from an accident.

Most deaths during August occurred in the 81-90-year-old age range, which had a total of four. Complete age range of deaths for the month is: 41-50-years-old, one; 61-70-years-old, three; 71-80 years old, two; 81-90 years-old, four; and 91-100 years old, two.

Nehru's Power In India Demonstrated By Election

BOMBAY, Sept. 15—The manifold problems of India has taken a commanding place in world interest in the wake of San Francisco's historic conference and the signing of a peace treaty for Japan.

While a possible move by Soviet Russia to offset the Japanese agreement which the Kremlin so long opposed held the focus of attention, the affairs of India assumed new importance with the election of Prime Minister Nehru to presidency of the All-India National Congress Party.

Nehru succeeds bearded Purshottamdas Tandon, the enigmatic former leader of the party who resigned in the course of bitter disputes with the prime minister over policies in general.

His election presumably shows that the most powerful political group in India backs Nehru in his opposition to the Japanese treaty as drafted by John Foster Dulles and in his abstention from the conference.

AND AT THE same time, it firmly establishes Nehru as undisputed leader of India and assures him of popular support in whatever measures he may deem necessary in the perilous split with Pakistan over the princely state of Kashmir.

This dispute, which for months has seen Hindu and Pakistani troops ranged against each other in an uneasy truce, still has the makings of a major world catastrophe.

It has its curious aspects, which were emphasized both by the San Francisco conference and by Nehru's election to a post that he has held on numerous occasions in recent years.

With regard to the situation in Kashmir, both India and Pakistan have adopted very strong—even stubborn—attitudes.

Nehru and Pakistani Prime Minister Liaquat Ali Khan have been unable to get together in any kind of a settlement and both have talked freely about the possibility of war. Each has accused the other of provocation and undying hostility.

Yet in the closing stages of the San Francisco conference, in voicing Pakistan's approval of the "peace of reconciliation" with Japan, Pakistani Delegate Sir M. Zafrullah Khan quoted from the Koran in a memorable passage which made a tremendous impression.

"NOW," HE SAID, "we of Asia, Africa, Europe and America are met together to make peace with Japan. And peace is best. It is the balm that heals; it is the silken cord that seeks to join together those whom war had put asunder. It blesses and is blest."

Even though he is a Hindu, the learned Nehru could cite the Koran with equal ease. And as the greatest champion and associate of the late Mohandas K. Gandhi, he likewise most admires the portions that deal with peace.

But no devotion to religion or the betterment of mankind has yet enabled Nehru and Ali Khan to settle the vexatious and dynamic-laden problem of Kashmir.

TEETH DIGGING GRAVE? Eating Too Much Claimed Good Way To Short Life

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 15 — If you are one of the 25 million overweight Americans you might be "digging your grave with your teeth."

An American and a Swedish scientist said today that the less you eat the healthier you will probably be—even to the extent of fasting.

Dr. Anton J. Carlson, 77-year-old "grand old man of physiology" at the University of Chicago, says that there is evidence of improved mental and physical activities after fasting.

Dr. Anton Henschen of Stockholm, Sweden, found that a scanty diet cuts down hardening of the arteries and inflammation of heart muscles. Both are attending the International Gerontological Congress which is studying problems of the aged in St. Louis.

DR. CARLSON pointed out that the life span of animals could be prolonged by intermittent fasting. Experimenting with rats, Dr. Carlson found out that "overnutrition," or eating too much, not only seems to make rats older quicker, but it also seems to make them less capable of reproducing.

He said that while it is not certain that the same applies to humans, overweight perhaps produces a poison for man's living cells.

Dr. Henschen said that when fat, meat and eggs were very scarce in Finland and Sweden during World War II, there were not as much carbohydrate (sugar and starches) as people wanted, but there was enough vitamins. He added:

"People grew thin, they complained about the restrictions, but the common state of health has never been as good in Sweden as during that time. The mortality decreased to a minimum."

"But after the war when people could again obtain all the food they wanted to eat, the death rate increased rapidly and was soon higher than even before the war."

The Mohammedan Koran is the most recent of the world's chief sacred books, having been written in the Seventh Century A. D.
